

My little mermaid

Help me please! Whatever should I do?
There's a mermaid, a pretty pink mermaid
now swimming in my pool!
Why is she even here? This is so uncool!
Shouldn't she be in some little mermaid school.

Maybe I can lure her away with a tasty treat.
Anyone even know what little mermaids eat?
I bet she likes candy and other delicious sweets.
I bet some chewy chocolate is all that I need!

Yes, that's it! I'm sure this will do the trick.
I'll put a yummy chocolate on the end of a stick and tempt this tailed princess so pretty and pink.
She can't, she won't resist! At least, that's what I think.

I approached our "sirenita" happily splashing around,
Convinced my lure of chocolate would lead her aground
At last it wasn't to be, for all the cleverness I produced
The one intent on tempting was now the one being seduced!

She batted her big beautiful lashes and smiled a lovely grin.
Then began to sing the sweetest song, every note pulled me in.
I was trapped inside her enchantment, and knew I'd never win,
So I offered her some chocolate and asked her to stay for a swim.
