

Starlight

can you hear me?
i'm calling out to you.
do you know my voice?
does it find you in the dark?
in the dark can you feel me?
i'm calling out to you.
can you hear me?

i reach out with melancholy heart
to find you then feel you to know you from beyond
just you and I

breathing in moonlight, caressing stars with our dreams- our lucid tireless dreams connect and reconnect
through time and space
in a billion points of light that shine from birth to death and back again.

starlight, star bright, the first star I see tonight
...and every night is you.

just beautiful you
floating on night like a white-winged goddess an Athena soaring up toward the heavens carrying our hearts and spirits and dreams, our whispers on your wings.

and i, sublimely trapped in your radiant light pulled by you
connected to you
rising up with you
just you and I

tangled up in twilight, dissolving into starlight.