

i don't like small talk.

i want to talk about moons, planets, places far-far away, the amazing things you've seen, places you dream, the wonders and mysteries and miraculous things what races your heart, what makes it frantic so talk to me of magic, not heavy traffic.

of things you cry about, laugh about, hope and regret, your favorite memories, and the stories you believe, the lies you still tell, the creations you conceived, the demons you fear and the battles you fight, what you feel wrong, what you know is right.

i want to talk with you with passion and depth with full heart and head and brea(d)th about what we lost, what we give what we accept and forgive about how we love
to how we live.

I don't like small talk
so let's talk big.
