

Ignorance front

Accuweather forecast:

An ignorance front has settled in and doesn't seem to leaving anytime soon. In fact, all signs indicate it's growing in strength. Over the next few decades, expect to see a significant increase in global temperatures, flooding, hurricanes, draughts, wildfires, loss of habitat and species, famine, disease, hunger and thirst. But don't worry! Should things get a little bumpy, we at Foxy News recommend just stay indoors and do absolutely nothing.

And now, let's join our own Shirley Simpleton waiting with a group of eager beavers at the local zoo. What do you think Shirley? Will our furry-little friend, the groundhog, see its shadow this year?

Stay tuned after the commercials to find out what the future holds.
